Amador and Pleasanton

Districts start support for tax hike measures

The tax measure campaigns of the Amador and Pleasanton school districts have been launched officially.

With the ballot arguments of the two districts approved by their respective boards, the drive to gather support for the tax hike measures will be gaining momentum as the count down for the June 8 ballot starts.

Amador district tax measure proponents claim that during the past three years the operating costs for the district have increased enormously to where the education of children in the district is seriously affected.

Amador trustees and staff cite the following "exorbitant costs":

— Employee salary increases, attempting to keep pace with inflation.

— Insurance costs increased 108 per cent to a level of $93,333 next year.

— Teachers' Retirement System cost transferred from the State to the district increased 75 per cent in the past three years.

— Cost of transporting students increased 29.8 per cent per mile in three years.

— Prices of classroom supplies increased 51.9 per cent since 1972.

Adds the ballot argument, "During this same period, the Legislature passed SB 90 which limited our income to an increase of less than 5 per cent per year at a time when costs increased at least twice as much. During the past two years, the district survived by using nearly all its reserve, reducing allocation of funds per student from $70 to $55, and postponing maintenance and repairs"

The Pleasanton ballot argument also cites the "combination of inflation and SB 90."

The district board and administration believe the two have brought the district to the brink of insolvency.

"While the consumer price index in this area rose 27.8 per cent during the past three years, income to the district has risen only some 14 per cent. Budget cutting during the past three years, together with the use of reserves, has met the difference in cost and income. The reserves are now exhausted and we can no longer maintain the present educational program with existing income.

"The district was granted a 35-cent operating tax increase in 1971, which was necessary at that time to maintain the existing program of that year. Through budget cuts and good management, the district has been able to maintain a sound educational program for the past five years. An additional tax increase is now necessary if this program is to continue at the same level."

The board has developed a two-year plan which would increase the operating tax for next year approximately 44 cents, with an additional 37 cents planned for 1977-78.

Amador has developed a three-year plan which would increase the operating tax rate for next year by about 24.8 cents. An additional maximum increase of 19.9 cents and 18 cents would be added in 1977-78 and 1978-79, respectively.

Both measures will require a simple majority vote.

Sunol Glen Early Childhood labeled excellent by state

SUNOL — The state evaluation of Sunol Glen School's Early Childhood Education Program has shown the program to be an excellent one with top marks in implementation of ECE according to plan, resolute progress toward comprehensive restructuring and top quality throughout.

Superintendent-principal George Bury said the two-person evaluation team spent Tuesday evaluating the third year program which includes kindergarten through third grade students.

The state duo spent the morning discussing the program with Bury and about 20 parents and volunteer aides. In the afternoon they checked each of the classrooms and asked questions of the teachers involved.

All categories evaluated can receive up to a "5" (the top score) by the state evaluators.

With few exceptions, the Sunol Glen ECE program received 5's.

The lowest score was a "3," in the area of School Advisory Committee on-going planning.

The state team, after completing their day-long review, presented Bury with the following commendation list:

1) Efforts, commitment and enthusiasm of staff, parents, community and students in implementation and participation in a unique ECE program.

2) Individualization that meets needs of each student in the reading, math and language programs.

3) The unique multicultural program that involves the visitations, writing and exchange of ideas between the Emery School District and Sunol Glen (K-3 students from the two districts have had exchange visits in which Emery youngsters came out "to the country" while Sunol Glen students learned about "the city" — a city fire department in operation).

4) Parent education program that operates for the whole community through the Sunol Community Club.

Among the recommendations advanced were:

1) Ongoing in-service program for SAC, parents and community in the total planning process with special emphasis on aspects of product and process evaluation.

2) Use the Program Quality Review Instrument with total staff and community as a tool for continous program assessment.

Vivian Scheib is ECE coordinator at Sunol Glen and Bury was quick to laud not only parent and volunteer aide support, but the quality of work put in by Mrs. Scheib and ECE teachers Diane Fries (kindergarten), Madeleine Ward (second grade) and Sandi Davini (third grade).

Sunol Glen is virtually assured of having their ECE program refunded for 1976-77.

Bury said he and his staff were confident they had a good program, "but you're still uptight when the state comes in. You really want to do well."

Bury added that the staff made a self-evaluation and came up with mostly 4s and 5s, an indication, Bury said, that they were ready for a good evaluation by the state team.

The youthful Sunol administrator said the ECE scores averaged out to 4.5 (on a scale of 1-5).

Will the Bobby Sox get their backstops?

PLEASANTON — What hath Billie Jean King wrought?

Five years ago when Sports and Recreation Park was just beginning, the community had little or no interest in Bobby Sox softball or adult women's softball and the little conflict at the park and recreation commission meeting Wednesday night never would have happened.

But there they were Wednesday night, a good-sized delegation from Bobby Sox and spokeswoman Carol Myers from Pleasanton Women's Softball, competing for space at the sports park and wondering about the fate of their backstops.

Bobby Sox wants backstops, temporary ones, which in the parlance of the local sports park means they will be up for four or five years.

Sixteen neighbors, led by Stan Callon, signed a petition against the backstops. They paid premium prices for their homes and while they were led to believe the park area near their homes would be used for soccer, nothing was ever said about softball.

For softball you need backstops, for soccer you don't, and the visual impact of those backstops have drawn the objections of the residents.

Callon was present at the meeting Wednesday night and things were amicable between him and the Bobby Sox residents, but the battle lines were drawn. The staff said it will try to work out something, but if that fails Callon assured the commission he will take the matter to the city council.

Callon also predicted that the proposed lighting of a multi-use of a future multi-use stadium in the park also will be protested by residents.

Recreation director Chuck Robert Caparusso said that in view of the city's dismal funding prospects over the next 20 years, the lighting won't come along for a long time. But Chairman Chuck Gielow said that the decision about whether or not it will be added should be made soon so that people will know what to expect in the future.

The Bobby Sox diamonds won't be installed until next year. The women's softball program has one diamond at the park and would like one more because 70 more women have joined. The staff said it would try to work out use of the area between the women's program and Bobby Sox.

On another item, Councilman Ken Mercer filled in the commission on the city council's desire to landscape planter strips on Valley Avenue with volunteer help. He noted the problem of maintainence is acute because there may not be adequate foundations for an irrigation system.

A suggestion was made to Mercer and the commission that they consider introducing native California plants to the planter strips and directed Mercer to the Valley Ecology Center's committee on native plants. The native plants take a minimum amount of water and other maintainance.

The commission approved a resolution commending director Cliff Byer and the cast of "Don't Drink the Water" for its successful Pleasanton Playhouse run at Sunol Country Club.

Caparusso expressed appreciation to Sunol Country Club owner Frank Ivaldi for donating use of the facility for rehearsals and performances. — by Ron McNicoll

Pleasanton's Bicentennial may prove a money maker

PLEASANTON — This community's ambitious roster of bicentennial programs and projects appear certain of winding up "in the black" by the time the books are closed, sometime after July 4.

While the local populace has still to see and enjoy much of the productivity of that big effort, the several committees that have been laboring mightily to sustain this self - supporting observance can now be confident that this town's bicentennial effort will indeed pay for itself.

The Pleasanton Bicentennial Steering Committee will get an update on all projects, costs and projected revenues at a special meeting called for next Tuesday evening. (City Hall conference room, 8 p.m.) The first order of business will be consideration of a resolution to repay the city the $5000 "start up loan" advanced over one year ago to get a myriad of community ventures underway.

Not all of those were designed as money - makers, but those that were have apparently picked up the overall deficit. The "Spirit of '76 Ball" yielded a net profit of $1465; the sale of flags and related items has shown a profit; the upcoming "Pleasanton Heritage Book" is expected to be a money - maker, particularly with the $3000 grant advanced by the Pleasanton Junior Women to make that publication possible. (In addition, the Juniors expect to soon report that some $5000 will be allocated from the recent Mardi Gras to Pleasanton Bicentennial efforts.)

"We took on a very ambitious program," PBC chairman Brad Hirst noted, "and — with the help of a great many dedicated people — we have done quite well." Hirst added that "we are appreciative of our heritage, and we are determined to leave a community of which our children can be proud."

Hirst said there are just 35 "Betsy Ross" flag kits left, priced at $10 and $12.50, and the handsome "Pleasanton Heritage Poster" at $2 each. They are available at the chamber office office, city hall, the Gingham Corner and other downtnwn retail establishments.

BART feeders to continue despite $400,000 deficit

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Feeder bus service from the hinterlands of Alameda and Contra Costa Counties to BART stations will continue — in spite of a $400,000 cost overrun incurred last year.

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District Board of Directors transferred $128,000 from capital funds to the 1975-76 general fund Thursday in order to balance the budget and guarantee feeder bus service.

The board originally allocated $2 million for the express bus service, and last October ordered General Manager Frank Herringer to cut bus service if it appeared it would exceed the budget.

But the BART board agreed to revise its earlier position after valley and eastern Contra Costa County officials apparently threatened to lobby against continuing the half-cent sales tax imposed in the three BART counties.

That resolution ties rail and bus service into one financially integrated system and guarantees a proportionate reduction in services as funds get tighter.

Herringer told members yesterday that the bus service would have to be "drastically curtailed" in order to conform with the original budget.

While the bus service showed a deficit of $401,000, savings by the distribt reduced the amount which actually had to be transferred from capital improvements to the general fund.

The adjustments were recommended by the district's administration committee.

The board also authorized the addition of 128 new employes to enable the system to staff its night service. The employes will be used chiefly in the transporation and maintenance departments.

BART's total labor costs will not increase over the amount first budgeted, the board was told.

ABAG grants center $205,300

Alameda County Bureau

BERKELEY — The Association of Bay Area Governments has approved a $1.6 million community development grant application that includes $205,300 for Livermore's low income, multiservice center.

The center would be located at the Civic Center Site on S. Livermore Avenue near police headquarters and the city library.

ABAG's recommendation was announced last week by association executive board members Donald F. Dillion of Fremont and vice mayors Patrick Griffin of Albany and Susan Hone of Berkeley.

The funds will come from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The county will use the money to support various community activites in the valley as well as Albany, Emeryville, Newark and Union City. Other cities in the county have separate applications for HUD community development funds.

The grant calls for $205,300 for Livermore, $509,127 to support continuation of a housing conservation program in Albany, Emeryville, Union City and the unincorporated areas of the county, and $310,861 in sidewalk and curb installations in the county, Albany and Union City.

As the Bay Area's areawide clearinghouse, ABAG comments on local applications for more than 180 federal assistance programs.

All signals go

Traffic signals at P and Chestnut streets went into full operation yesterday, sometimes to the confusion of motorists who stopped on the red light and then continued through the intersection in the spirit of the previously existing four - way stop. The $43,000 traffic signal operation is automobile actuated and also has pedestrian push buttons. It features left turn only lights on P Street both north and south.

Strangers attack man in Lambaren Avenue home

LIVERMORE — Three men knocked at James Gordan Jeffery's Lambaren Avenue home late Wednesday, demanded the whereabouts of his business partner, and then beat Jeffery up when he failed to talk.

Jeffery later told police he thought he had seen the suspects before and could identify them if seen again.

He told police that the three men asked where his business partner was presently. When he said he had no idea, they started pushing him around.

Jeffery ran outside yelling for help, but was dragged back inside his home where the suspects continued their demand. One man produced a .38-caliber revolver and threatened to kill Jeffery if he didn't talk.

One of the suspects said Jeffery's business partner had written some bad checks, and said, "We were paid to come here and take care of the problem."

After threatening to kill Jeffery if he talked to police, the three left.

Jeffery received several cuts on his face, and was treated and released from Valley Memorial Hospital shortly after the incident.

Guns, cash and CB radio worth $1,968 taken Wednesday

LIVERMORE — Burglars pried open the front door to Dale Everett Harrison's Mendocino Road home Wednesday afternoon and stole nearly $2,000 in valuables.

Harrison's gun cabinet was forced open, and seven guns, including a musket, were taken. Also missing are 920 rounds of ammunition.

Other missing articles include a $300 CB radio, an afghan blanket, and $310 in cash. A partial fingerprint was lifted from a camera apparently moved, but not taken, by the thieves.

Police are searching for a white man and a black man for questioning in the case.

Guns taken from Mines Road home

LIVERMORE — Guns valued at $530 were taken from Wayne Turner's Mines Road home last week.

Sheriff's deputies could find no signs of forced entry and suspect the burglars may have a key. Missing weapons include two rifles, a shotgun and a pistol.

There are no suspects in custody at this time.

CB radio v a lued at $245 taken

LIVERMORE — Burglars broke into Wayne McCraw's Datsun pick-up truck while it was parked in front of his Via Granada home and took a citizen's band radio valued at $245 Tuesday morning.

Police think burglars used a coat hanger or similar wire device to force open a wing window and remove the Teaberry "Big T" radio.

There are no suspects in the case.

Locked out

A "Crime Prevention Display" featuring a sampling of security locks and alarms as well as smoke and heat detectors can be seen this week and next at the United California Bank, 1790 First St., Livermore. The display was put together in recent weeks by the Stragetic Team Enforcement Program (STEP) officers of the Livermore and Pleasanton Police Departments with donations from local locksmiths and merchants who deal in security devices. The display first was shown to a session with senior citizens on crime prevention and was presented earlier this week to a seminar with local business people on the same subject. Livermore Police Detective Jim Balch is shown here demonstrating a lock featured in the display at that seminar.

County says no retrial for SLA

MARTINEZ — The county announced Wednesday it is dropping all charges against Joseph Remiro and Russell Little, the convicted murderers of Oakland Public Schools Superintendent Dr. Marcus Foster.

Remiro and Little were apprehended in the early morning hours of Jan 10, 1974 after a shootout with a Concord Police Sergeant. Subsequent charges of attempted murder, possession of explosives and related offenses were transferred to trial in Los Angeles County after a change of venue was granted.

The Los Angeles trial ended Feb. 20 with acquittal for Little and no decision on Remiro.

The district attorney decided not to seek a retrial because the case is now two years old, no new evidence has been uncovered, and excessive court costs would be incurred.

Los Angeles County is sending Contra Costa County a bill for the cost of the trial, but it is not yet known if supervisors will pay the entire $450,000 tab.

Registration now is being taken at the District offices, 71 Trevarno Road.

Serious violation count

City crime rate up in '75

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Serious crimes in large Northern California cities were up in 1975, compared with 1974, the FBI said today.

Statistics in the FBI Uniform Crime Report showed nationally that serious crime was 9 per cent higher than in 1974 and up 6 per cent in the West.

San Francisco recorded an increase in serious crimes from 55,911 to 64,518 over the year.

Crimes involved in the study are murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny-theft and motor vehicle theft.

Oakland's serious crimes rose from 40,507 in 1974 to 42,878 last year. San Jose showed an increase from 39,789 to 44,082; Sacramento from 22,588 to 26,610; Berkeley from 12,867 to 13,217; Fresno from 18,165 to 19,682 and Stockton from 10,872 to 12,025.

In Los Angeles the number nf serious crimes rose from 215,556 in 1974 to 223,404 in 1975, while San Diego's serious crimes increased from 52,845 to 60,022.

The FBI said there were 138 murders listed in San Francisco in 1975, down one from the previous year. Oakland recorded a jump from 78 to 106 in murders, while San Jose rose from 27 to 39, Sacramento from 37 to 42 and Los Angeles from 481 to 555. San Diego showed a decline in this category from 66 to 64.

Valley Obituaries

David Tobias

David Norman Tobias, 33, was killed Sunday in the Baja California airplane crash that also took the life of a San Leandro Police Captain and two other men.

A Pleasanton resident, he was a member of the Electrical Workers Union Local No. 595 of Oakland.

Survivors include his sons Jeffrey, Douglas and Daniel Tobias of Pleasanton; mother, Alvena Richmond of San Leandro; father, Norman D. Tobias and brother James Tobias of Sunnyvale.

Friends are invited to attend the services Friday from the Church of the Assumption, 1100 Fulton Ave., where a rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. followed by a Requiem Mass.

Interment in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery will be private.

Arrangements by the Guerrero Mortuary Chapel, 407 Estudillo Ave., San Leandro.

Richard Segura

Private family service will be held today at 8 p.m. in the chapel of Callaghan Mortuary for infant Richard Charles Segura who was the eight - month - old child of Robert and Julia Segura of Pleasanton.

The child passed away March 23 following a long illness. In addition to his parents, he is survived by his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Segura of San Francisco, his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Clark of Pleasanton, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Doris Clark of Oakland.

Those who wish may make contributions in his memory to the Kidney Foundation of Northern California.

Boy Scout Fun Day at Frontier Village

Boy Scout Troop 547 of Dublin will take part in Boy Scout Family Fun Day at Frontier Village Amusement Park in San Jose on Saturday, April 24. A special $3 coupon provides admission, unlimited rides and a free hot dog and coke lunch to Boy Scout visitors on that day.

Reservations for the day at the Park which is open from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. are required. The event is designed especially for Boy Scout Troops and their families. Frontier Village offers 32 major rides and attractions combining the flavor of the old west with modern thrill rides.

Coupon reservation forms or additional information are available through troop leaders or the Group Services pepartment at Frontier Village Amusement Park, (408) 225-1500.

If you remember Del Valle Regional Park as having one small beach — look again! Now that the $3.5 million state construction program is almost over, and the lake is due to be filled up to its usual level by April 1, visitors can enjoy two sweeping new beaches and attractive changing cabanas (stained green to blend in with their woodsy surroundings.) There's also boating and fishing, 250 picnic sites, and a campground, all on a grand scale but confined to one end of the lake with the rest left in its natural state. Admission for day use is $1.50. 75's new tax

By RAY DE CRANE

The negative income tax has been talked about for years.

It became a reality in 1975. Under the concept of the negative income tax, while some people are paying more tax with their return and others are receiving a partial refund of some of the tax withheld from their income, a new group of filers will be submitting tax returns only to get money out, even though they have paid in nothing.

It is not identified as a negative income tax on the new tax form. It is labeled an earned-income credit. tween $4,000 and $8,000 last year.

It was designed to offset the burden of Social Security taxes on low-income families and to encourage individuals to get off welfare rolls and to obtain employment.

To be eligible for the credit, you must have maintained a household for the entire year of 1975 which was the principal residence for you and at least one of your children who was either under 19 or was a student you are entitled to claim as a dependent. If you are married, you must file a joint return to be eligible for the credit.

Earned income for this purpose means all wages and salary less sick pay exclusion, if applicable, plus tips and net earnings from self-employment.

'Stop Smoking' bridge

"The Sword of Hope," a new bridge association for non-smokers and people who want to stop smoking, will meet at 10 a.m. the first Thursday of each month, beginning April 1 at the Homestead Savings and Loan Building in Dublin.

The original four clubs of this association were started in the San Ramon Valley by Mrs. Ken Huseman who had once been a heavy smoker and has survived a lung - removal operation. The group has since become a national association with a special bank account at the United California Bank of San Ramon.

Funds are raised by collecting 50 cents from each player, two cents for each trick the player goes down. A portion of the money collected goes to cancer research, the remainder for prizes.

Object of the association is to prove to smokers that they can survive a bridge session without a cigarette, as no smoking is allowed during the game. "Clean air, not filtered," is the club's motto.

Smokers, non - smokers and their guests are welcome to join the group. For information contact Shirley Aronson at 462-2291, Betty Martin at 828-1252, Betty Smith at 828-2014 or Audrey Huseman at 828-4654.

Reservations must be made by Monday, March 29.

Boss Night

Boss of the Year will be selected and honored at 8 p.m. tonight at Hap's Restaurant in Pleasanton by members of the American Business Women's Association, Livermore Valley Charter Chapter.

Each year members submit letters about their bosses, which are reviewed by a panel of businesspersons. Guy A. Humphries, D.D.S., is the current Boss of the Year, and he will present the boss's response at the award dinner.

Karen Hoffman, manager of Denny's Restaurant in Pleasanton will discuss male - female management problems.

Vocational speaker for the evening will be Wanda Patti, a draftsperson at Livermore Data Systems, Inc.

Entertainment during the dinner hour will be provided by a chorale group under the direction of Mrs. Miriam Wain. Mrs. Wain, an instructor at Amador High, has directed music for the Pleasanton Playhouse productions of "Fiddler on the Roof," and "The King an I."

V.F.W.

Nominations and election of officers will occupy members of the Livermore Valley V.F.W. Auxiliary No. 7265 April 14 at the Veterans Memorial Building.

Following the election of officers set at 8 p.m , members will plan the Buddy Poppy Sale. Maude Hadcock and Merle Creager will serve refreshments.

Here come the pets!

A Pet Parade for kids six to ten years of age will be hosted at the Aquatic Park Sunday, April 4 by the Pleasanton Junior Women's Club and the Pleasanton Recreation Department from 1 to 3 p.m. Applications will be limited to grades first through fifth, with the first 200 applications accepted only. All pets must be on a leash to participate. Prizes will be awarded in a variety of categories such as Most Talented, Funniest, Biggest, Smallest, Most SAPOTS, ETC. Applications are available at the Pleasanton library Pleasanton schools or the recreation department. Don't delay!

WWWW

The Tri-Valley Chapter of Women Who Want to be Women convenes Monday, March 29 at Northern California Savings and Loan Association in Dublin.

Dee Schmidt, new president of the chapter, will preside at the meeting which includes a review of pertinent state legislation.

City council moves to neighborhoods soon

LIVERMORE — The city council will take to the neighborhoods in the near future to hold informal "community meetings" with citizens.

The idea for these sessions originated with Councilman Glen Dahlbacka who first proposed them when he was campaigning for the council.

He explained at that time he thought the council meetings too involved to allow time for informal citizen discussion on issues important to residents and proposed holding "town meetings."

The council earlier this week approved the concept but left it up to Dahlbacka to work out the particulars. Mayor Helen Tirsell suggested the fifth Monday of a month be devoted to the meetings since the council usually does not hold regular meetings on these dates.

Citizen Ray Faltings suggerted the council hold community meetings once a month rather than on fifth Mondays and proposed the city's upcoming fiscal year budget be the topic discussed at the first session.

In other business, the council also authorized the city attorney to purchase a small parcel of property at Stanley Boulevard and Wall Street, next to Oak Knoll Pioneer Park (also known as Boot Hill). The purchase price is $21,000.

The action was approved after a review of a deed restriction on the property by the Livermore Area Recreation and Park District and the public works director. Both agreed the restrictions would not be a problem because structures normally placed in a park would not conflict with the deed conditions.

Maid of Dublin Louise Hodges, who swept the title one year ago in ceremonies at the Castlewood Country Club, was fourth runner-up in the recent Miss San Leandro contest. The 18-year-old college freshman also was a contestant in last year's Maid of Contra Costa County contest. Debra Wade, 18, also a college student, was crowned Miss San Leandro.

Birdie waves bye, bye

"Bye, Bye Birdie" debuts tonight at the Amador Valley High School auditorium at 8 o'clock. The production features 125 Pleasanton Middle School students in stage and orchestra parts. Mike Ames, center, will play the part of Conrad Birdie, the featured role in the musical comedy. The roles of Albert and Rosie are taken by Chris Carabello, left, and Kathy Carey, right. Rebekah Caplan is directing the production which will also play Saturday and again next Friday and Saturday at Amador.

Dublin students raise flag

DUBLIN — Dublin School students will raise a Bicentennial flag at ceremonies scheduled for Tuesday morning at the school on Vomac Road.

Bill Conley, principal at Dublin, reports the right to fly the Bicentennial flag had to be earned and was based on three categories: Heritage '76 (past), Festival USA (present) and Future USA.

Among the projects and activities undertaken by students were the following: A map of California was made by 7th and 8th grade students, a poster of the state parks is on the California map, Dublin's history was written in two historical novels by all of the eighth grade students about the country's forefathers, early flags were made by some students, a planting day was held so every class could have a part in beautifying the school for the Bicentennial year and the future, a Bicentennial calendar was made as an art project, a "then and now" collage was made showing past and present, an old time Charlie Chaplin and Shirley Temple movie was made honoring old Hollywood.

$97,000 to valley from ACAP funds

HAYWARD — A total of $97,000 has been allocated to valley community projects by the governing board of the Associated Community Action Program (ACAP).

The board made the allocations last week during a lengthy meeting that saw about $419,000 in federal funds distributed in Southern Alameda County.

Both the Leahy Valley Child Development Center and the Ark Comprehensive Children's Services Center were allocated $30,000 each and the senior service center operated by the Livermore Area Recreation and Park District will recieve $24,700.

The youth summer recreation youth program in Pleasanton received $4,700 and the summer youth recreation program in Livermore received $3,700. Pleasanton's on - going recreation program will receive $4,900.

Other valley programs which applied for the ACAP funding but did not receive allocations include CAPE transportation, Pleasanton Health Care Center and the Valley School child - care program.

Church news

First Baptist Church celebrates birthday

DUBLIN— The First Baptist Church of Dublin-San Ramon, on San Ramon Valley Blvd., plan a special celebration this Sunday, March 28, in honor of their church's twelfth anniversary.

Barbara Law, a talented soprano with a commendable musical background, will sing at both the 11 a.m. morning worship and the 7 p.m. evening service.

As an added treat, because of the particular occasion, all church members and their guests will be served a free lunch of hot dogs, potato chips, punch and ice cream after the morning worship service.

Barbara Law

Their special guest, Barbara Law, has had a career which is most distinguished and has performed all over the world. She appeared in many operas across the United States and was a finalist in both the Metropolitan Opera Auditions and the San Francisco Opera Auditions. Ms. Law made her New York debut as soprano soloist in the Messiah with the Masterwork Foundation in Carnegie Hall and Philharmonic Hall She is a sensitive musician with an unusual style who combines an expressive and beautiful voice with a fine musical background. Her involvement and communication combined with her Christian faith and dedication make her one of the finest Christian artists today.

Sunday School will precede the worship service at its regular time of 9:45 a.m. There are insured buses available from Livermore, Pleasanton, Dublin, San Ramon and Danville. Arrangements can be made to ride on the bus by calling the church office at 828-8005.

The special day of celebration will conclude in the evening with Youth Service for all ages at 6 p.m. and the evening service open to the public at 7 p.m. Everyone is cordially invited to attend all the services.

Spaghetti feed at John Knox

DUBLIN— The Christian Youth Fellowship of John Knox presbyterian Church on Amarillo Road, will hold a spaghetti feed and film showing of "The Gospel Road" with Johnny Cash this Saturdy, March 27, beginning at 5:30 p.m. with the dinner. Tickets may be purchased at the door ($1.50 for adults, $1 for youth, 75 cents for children under 7). All proceeds from the dinner will go towards the youth's summer service project and work caravan to Ganado, New Mexico, where they will assist at a Presbyterian Mission with the Navajo Indians.

The film will be shown at the church at 6:30 p.m. Saturday evening, and at 6 p.m. Sunday evening, with child care provided. There will be no admission fee for the film, and its showings both Saturday and Sunday evenings are open to the public.

"Right is Might" is the Rev. Jim Griffes' sermon theme for this fourth Sunday in the Lenten Season with the service of worship at 9:30 a.m This series of Lenten meditations focuses on a new happiness to be found in Jesus Beautitudes. This Sunday's theme follows Jesus' teaching on how a person can experience achievement without agression. The Chancel Choir will also be bringing special music for the occasion. Church school classes for children and youth are at 10 a.m., and the adult enrichment seminars including Bible studies, prayer power, Presbyterian faith, Church and World Forum, and sermon talk-back meet with coffee fellowship at 10:30 a.m.

Ruth Gustavson, Peggy Wittrock and Gunhild Sobeck practice songs from a 200 year-old song book in preparation for their bicentennial social.

Bicentennial social surprises for everyone

DUBLIN — Cookies and Cakes made from recipe books 200 years old; hot spiced cider; music popular at the time of our nation's birthday; and an historical slide show with "laugh-in" sidelights await the community when the church women of the Lutheran Church of the Resurrection present their bicentennial social — "A Funny Thing Happened On the Way to the Bicentennial." This free family entertainment will take place Saturday evening, April 3, at 7:30 at the church site on Amador Valley Blvd.

Peggy Wittrock, who dreamed up the whole idea, is chairman for the event. She plans to show her own personal collection of pictures of historical locations from Boston, Massachusetts to Williamsburg, Virginia. The slides will be accompanied by background material about life in 1776, historical events and famous people of the time.

From her impressive collection of historical books, Peggy has managed to acquire such "tid-bits" of information as the fact that Paul Revere (who was a silver-smith by trade) made a pair of false teeth for his friend George Washington that weighed 12 pounds! President Washington also wore teeth made of cherrywood and ivory; which could account for the firm set of his jaw.

Members of the church will also add entertainment with records, songs, performances and a community songfest.

Lutheran church night of games

DUBLIN— Saturday night, March 27, is "Game Night" at the Lutheran Church of the Resurrection, 7557 Amador Valley Blvde, and promises to be very entertaining. Interested members have signed up for a game of their choosing — card games, charades, bingo and others. Then they will be divided into groups and given the name and address of their host. It is hoped that in this way, everyone will have an opportunity to meet others with similar interests.

"And forgive us our sins, as we forgive those who wrong us," the fifth petition of the Lord's Prayer, will be the theme of the Lenten service on Wednesday, March 31 at 7:30 p.m. All guests are invited to join us in worship.

Regular worship services are held each Sunday morning at 8:30 and 11 with Sunday school for all ages at 9:45 a.m. Nursery care is provided.

Methodist

DUBLIN— The Rev. Wayne Kessel of Valley United Methodist Church will give the sermon, "This Thing Called Love," with the scripture lesson being taken from Mark 12:28-34. at the church service commencing at 8:45 a.m. in the Camp Parks Chapel.

Free film

PLEASANTON— Billy Graham's full length feature film, "Time to Run" will be shown this Sunday evening at the First Baptist Church, 4100 First St., at 7 p m. There will be no admission charge and all are welcome to attend.

Sunday school at the First Baptist Church is held at 9:45 a.m. with morning worship services following at 11. This Sunday, the Rev. Bill Pemberton, Pastor, will speak on "The Coronation of the Cross" using the reference Bible text of Matthew 26:47-64.

Kite Contest

LIVERMORE — The Livermore Unitarian Fellowship is sponsoring a Kite flying contest at Curry Point on Mt. Diablo, Sunday, March 28.

Car pools will gather at the LUF House, 4260 First St., Livermore at 1:15 p.m. Maps are available at the park entrance. An entry fee of $1 per car load will be charged.

Prizes will be awarded for the biggest and smallest kites that fly; best homemade kite; best flier and highest flier (must stay on string). A picnic will be held for all those present at Live Oak, nearby, about 4:30 or 5 p.m. Everyone attending is asked to bring hot dogs and buns for your family, plus a dish to share (chips, beans, salad etc.) and beverage to share. Marshmellows for dessert, plates, cups and napkins will be provided.

Chico State choir performs locally

PLEASANTON— The Chico State University A Cappella Choir will appear in concert at the United Presbyterian Community Church, 100 Neal St., on Saturday, March 27, at 8 p.m.

The 52 voice choir is becoming well known throughout the western United States and have been called "the best university choir in northern California. Organized in 1957 as a natural result of the expansion of the music department of Chico State, the choir has grown in quality and stature under the baton of its organizer-conductor, Ralph W. Wadsworth, professor of music at the university.

In accordance with the policy of presenting the best of music literature in their performances, the selections in the choir's repertoire are chosen from every period of music, and are of a wide range of mood and spirit. Their repertoire includes pre-baroque up through modern contemporary styles.

There is no admission charge for the performance but an offering will be taken.

Doreen Collins, Noelita Conlogue and Joyce Stobbe, St. Raymond Guild members show some of the articles offered for Silent Auction, April 3

Silent auction and lunch at St. Raymond's, April

DUBLIN— Over a hundred items are expected to be offered for the "Silent Auction" which is the highlight of the Luncheon is Served sponsored by St. Raymond's Guild, Saturday, April 3, in St. Raymond's Church Hall, beginning at 11:30 a.m.

Silent Auction articles are donated by church members and local merchants Some are exquisitely hand-made artifacts such as afghans, pillows, baby clothes and baked goods. A starting minimum bid is placed by each item and the guests go through and place their bid price with their name next to their choice. When the bidding stops, the last name and the last price receives the sought-after goods. Some items are in great demand, so the bidding at times can become very competitive.

Tickets for the event are limited. They are available at $2.50 each from guild members or may be ordered from ticket chairman, Noelita Conlogue, 828-5319. Deadline for tickets is March 31.

Patti Blume and Kathy Lacey are co-chairmaning the luncheon and Doreen Collins is chairman of the Silent Auction. Joyce Stobbe is acting as publicity chairman

Parental rights and the law

Judging by the response this one newspaper received following our revelations on that alleged federal bid to "grab our children," it is apparent that parental concern goes much deeper than one piece of legislation, even the misguided reading of that "Child and Family Service Act of 1975."

Those who retain an abiding faith in home, family and the traditional child - parent relationship are frightened. And they are angry. It is not just Congressional intrusion into the funding of day care centers that bothers them; it is "the entire trend ... from high school teachers who counsel students to disobey their parents, to churches that are afraid to tell it like it is."

This is much the same lament that we saw coming out of the "fundamental school movement." The Times suggested then that school boards would be guilty of a terrible misreading of that movement if they saw it only as "a few up - tight parents trying to restore the old conservative ways."

There are indeed parents trying to preserve something of this nation's past, its strengths, its belief in God and family. We cannot chastise them for that.

But we can expect that clear - thinking adults will use logic, not passion, in pursuit of their cause. We can also hope that churches — and other concerned and responsible institutions — would be less inclined to distribute material of questionable origin, and more dilligent in pursuing in-depth study of new legislation, and the new mores.

We don't know if the "Child and Family Service Act of 1975" has real merit or not. But we do know that meaningful goals are best achieved after careful study of the facts, and forthright attack of the central issues. And that applies whether the target is Congress, the church or the school board.

Hindsight/Foresight

The Murray case

Whatever the Murray School District board and administration comes up with in the next couple of months, as regards housing of students in light of bond and funding turndowns, they best involve some of the taxpaying residents of the district.

The central office staff headed by assistant superintendent Heinz Gewing and principals of the respective schools will be looking at eight "alternatives" during the coming month — all the way from converting one or more schools to strictly junior high grade use to remaining in a status quo situation.

The plan, according to Gewing, is to come back to trustees next month with some suggestions on how to proceed.

There is one constant, unfortunately, to this discussion ... the status of the 27 acres in Silvergate referred to as the Dolan school site. Construction plans are now dormant and cannot be revived in the immediate future

I could list several reasons for these circumstances, starting with the most recent occurrences at the ballot box and at the State Allocations Board meeting earlier this month.

But it really goes back to the captain of the ship and those persons constituting the board of trustees in 1971, 72 and 73.

In short, superintendent Donald Williams and board members of that time span must in the final analysis be held accountable.

We can all talk about the inflationary spiral and pressures exerted by various civic and community bodies, but it still comes back to the fact that the Murray School District has a 27-acre school site that has been cleared away and now can't put one nail into one board.

The problem is advance planning and in this area the Murray School District has come up short.

That's why I would advance the suggestion that some citizens be permitted into the inner circle as regards the "alternatives" now open to the district.

I would further suggest that one or more parents from each school area, possibly those who are now serving on the Parent Advisory Council, be invited to sit in on these discussions that will involve Gewing, business manager Phillip Chubb and all principals in the district.

The district could have used a man such as Dr. David Carlisle, director of research and development for the Amador-Pleasanton school district, in the early 70s. They could use such a man NOW.

But, most importantly, the district administration has got to be more candid with taxpayers of the district.

Not just on the perfunctory day-to-day items, which they are doing a good job on, but the crucial items such as leftover bond monies from 1972, the true facts of the March '76 bond issue, and the causes leading to the funding turndown by the State Allocations Board.

Murray district residents should also know that the administration has just hired legal counsel. But this man, Keith Breon (who also serves in the same capacity for Amador and Pleasanton), should not be construed as having the capacity for providing research and development input. His primary task will be to assist the board and administration in salary negotiations with teachers.

That is why it is long past time for the TAXPAYERS to be represented. Not by a second party, but by "first party" interests.

Costly water

The closer the nation gets to the goals set by the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, the harder it becomes — and the more it is costing.

Spending for pollution abatement and control by business, consumers and government in the United States totalled $23 billion in 1973, reports the Department of Commerce. This was an increase of 18 per cent over the $19.5 billion spent in 1972 and the bulk of it — $13 2 billion — was spent by industry, and most of it went to combat water pollution.

Figures for 1974 and 1975, when they become available, will no doubt show a continuing upward trend. According to the government's Council on Environmental Quality, some industries will have to put 10 to 20 per cent of their total plant and equipment investments into pollution control to meet existing federal laws.

But not only is industry feeling a cost pinch. Municipalities were promised federal grants to cover 75 per cent of the capital cost of sewage treatment systems. These grants were to have totalled $18 billion over the last three years. Congress, however, has released only $9 billion to date.

Present indications are that 40 per cent of the nation's municipalities and 10 per cent of industry may not be able to meet the Environmental Protection Agency's July, 1977, deadline for compliance with water quality standards.

When Congress passed the amended Water Pollution Control Act, it set a series of progressively higher standards. If and when the 1977 standards are met, the nation will have achieved 90 per cent of all the water quality goals envisioned in the original bill.

Already, however, there is a growing chorus of calls, not only from industry but from labor leaders and local politicians, for a relaxation of pollution control standards lest the nation's recovery from the recession be endangered.

At least one business leader has suggested a more positive way of reducing the adverse economic impact of pollution control laws in the area of water quality. F. Perry Wilson, chairman of Union Carbide Corp., proposes the creation of a "Water Quality Board" which would evaluate the progress of each industry and municipality toward the goals of clean water and identify where those goals were not being met.

"Where the goal has been achieved," he says, "the board would require additional control only as necessary to maintain the quality level. Where the goal has not been achieved, it would identify the additional technology that would have to be applied, determine its feasibility, and ascertain the desirability of the benefits expected."

Such an approach, he says, would avoid the unnecessary cost of an automatic and sweeping standard by establishing realistic and economically justifiable goals.

Another solution to the dilemma is through technology itself — through "second generation" water pollution control equipment — according to Ecodyne Corp.

At a recent Pollution Control Roundtable, Ecodyne reported innovations which have sliced thousands of dollars off the initial capital cost of water treatment equipment as well as energy costs and still more in annual operating costs, which better results in terms of water quality.

The nation's course over the next few years would thus seem to be, not to abandon the goal of "swimmable and fishable" water, but rather to make haste slowly so that healthy water and healthy economy may both be realized.

Letters to the Times

RV parking

Editor, The Times:

Recreational Vehicles have many advantages as any traveler and tourist can tell you. They do have one large drawback, as the city of Livermore recently discovered, and that is just where does one park these large vehicles. The Stoneridge townhomes offered a solution to this problem by offering potential owners a recreational vehicle boat parking area ... on the eastern side of Stonedale Drive at Maywood.

This parking area has been strenuously objected to by the residents ... In Febraury and March of 1971, two different maps were approved by the city; one which showed the area as a mini-park, one which showed the area as a R.V. parking area. The city has not yet decided which map is correct ...

Stoneson Developing Company went ahead and graded and blacktopped the area, in spite of numerous objections including stop work orders due to lack of electrical and plumbing permits.

There are 26 parking spaces indicated in the present plan and although only half of the planned 95 townhomes have been sold, there are already 15 R.V.'s waiting for a parking space. When the rest of the town homes are sold, where are the rest of the R.V.'s, going to be parked?

Finally, a R.V. area is not in keeping with the residential character of Stoneridge. Thoughtful planning and proper approval would have eliminated this problem in the beginning.

Now the Stoneson Developing Company representatives are bending laws to put in this recreational vehicle parking area. The solution would be to find an alternate site in the 22-plus acreage that Stoneson wants to re-zone from Planned Unit Development to R.I. New residents would know they were buying adjacent to this parking area.

Gagged public

Editor, The Times:

This year as we celebrate our nation's Bicentennial, we Americans can be proud of many aspects of our form of government. One of our most cherished concepts is the idea that our elected officials should listen to the public, be responsive to the public and also be accountable to the public.

Imagine my surprise when I went to the most recent Livermore school board meeting and discovered that if you now want to address the board you must fill out a card giving your name, address and topic you wish to speak on. If you haven't filled out a card, beforehand, you don't get to speak (as I duly found out).

I call this the Muzzle Act of 1976. This procedure constitutes at the very least a subtle form of intimidation. It certainly discourages public participation, and of course prevents public input on a spontaneous nature following board discussion.

Other elected boards have crowded agendas. However, no elected board in the Valley to the best of my knowledge controls the public in this manner. Certainly not the Livermore City Council or Planning Commission. In fact, the city council moved the item on council comments to the very end of their agenda so as to streamline their meetings and still preserve public discussion. The Livermore School Board should adopt this procedure.

The School Board itself is not well - serve by gagging the public. Often times, citizens have excellent ideas. Often times, citizens have unique knowledge which can correct misapprehensions that some or all of the Board members have.

I call upon the Livermore School Board to rescind their newly imposed restrictions on the public.

This piece shall be entitled — "The Making of a Grandparent, Part II." Or — "Why we shipped them all off to Arizona."

Now please don't get the idea that I have given up on this business of grandparenting. I have simply called a small truce, as it were. Michaeleen and I have agreed to go our separate ways for a while, "still the best of friends, but ..." That sort of thing.

Frankly, we were just getting to understand each other, Mike and I. She gave the orders, I jumped. A typical male - female partnership.

Taking orders from a 23-months-old Master Sergeant did not come easy for this veteran of the Hitler blitzkrieg. I survived Adolph. There was some question I would ever outlast the Terror of Queensland.

Actually, Mike can be a real charmer, when she sets her mind to it. Loves her sister, Tuny Marie Adores her Daddy. Thinks Mommy is a princess. The rest of us might as well be on another planet.

I thought I had found the key to her black Irish heart (another of her Grandmother's contributions). It was just before they shipped out. I was sitting on the edge of the bath tub, soaking my aching foot. (Last month the knee ached. This month it's the foot. The aches work their way down, reach bottom, then start over again at the top. It's God's way.)

Anyway, it was while I was sharing a quiet moment with Mr. Jacuzzi, in the tub, with my aching foot. I had failed to lock the bathroom door, from the inside. (Actually, they have wrapped one of my socks around the door handle to prohibit use of the lock, a step taken after Mike and the football player from next door had locked themselves inside said bathroom, resulting in all kinds of panic. But that's another story.)

It was through that unlocked door that she entered. My first reaction was one of terror ... "She has to go potty and didn't expect to find HIM in her bathroom," I thought. But no, her Irish - Australian curiosity had gotten the best of her. Had to see what all the that humming and Jacuzzi water whooshing was about.

Applying my new - found "let her make the first move" philosophy, I sat silently, dangling my injured limb in the soothing, swirling waters. She decided to test the water, doing so by dipping her hand in with a great "WHEEE!" followed by a generous distribution of water. Since I was almost fully clothed (except for one leg) this of course resulted in my getting somewhat wet. But still, I held my peace.

"You want to get into this tub with me?" I ventured, after the splashing had reached ridiculous proportions "Right on!" she replied, or words to that effect.

And thus did we find kinship, Mike and I. Me sitting on the edge of the tub, she standing in the middle of the hydroelectric action. Both splashing mightily (If you can't beat 'em, join 'em, I always say.) It was, I must confess, our grandest moment.

I recite all this here only to establish that I have not been a total failure at this business of grandparenting. It is difficult, yes; impossible even, at times. "I will never, NEVER learn," I have been heard to remark, in the depths of my despair.

But that was before Mike and I discovered that many a friendship is born in whooshing waters. My only problem now is to keep from getting water - logged, as I head for that tub every evening, looking for the one way to win her Irish heart.

I will have an opportunity to dry out a little, this week. They've gang aft to Arizona. This was in truth the mother's idea.

"If I come all the way to America and then go back to Australia and tell my friends I never got to see Robert Redford or the Grand Canyon, they will never forgive me!" I dared not ask the significance of the dimple - darling Redford and the nation's largest cavity, but we all agreed travelling to Arizona would be somewhat easier than arranging a private session with La Grande Redford. So away they went.

All of them. Every blessed one.

"What is the strange noise I keep not hearing," I remarked at this morning's breakfast table.

"If this is your cute way of telling me it's suddenly very quiet, then it's not funny," was her answer.

Actually, I was just trying to adjust to the void ... the absence of little voices ... the dulcet refrain of a master sergeant, ordering us this way and that. Even the dog seems uncomfortable in the stillness of it all.

"Bygawd, I think I miss them already!" I exclaimed.

"By golly, I think you'll make a grandpa yet," she replied.

Sound and Fury

Walt Hecox

Her hair, as she stood in the doorway, was a soft and lovely chestnut brown and perfectly groomed as well it should have been — we had waited 45 minutes for that elegant coiffure to be completed — and as she moved into the room she appeared to be no more than 40 years old.

She wore brown, a dark brown dress with a lighter yoke, a soft, heavy material with flowing sleeves like a robe, a heavy gold choker around her neck with a brown stone at the breech and only her gait, which did not have the spring of middle age, suggested her true age.

Martha Graham is 82 years old, the reigning queen of modern dance in American ballet, a living legend in the theatrical world and, even with four score and two years behind her, a dominating figure wherever she goes.

The Garden Room at the Mark Hopkins Hotel had pretty well filled by the time she sat, a miniature monarch on a modest throne, and began answering questions for the assembled press.

She spoke with the quiet assurance born with years in the theatre and gave no hint that she knew her tardy appearance had caused the press interview to merge and mingle with the television people and caused considerable inconvenience to both. Because I was interested in the woman more than her accomplishments on the stage I studied her while she spoke, looking for signs of her 82 years and finding some in her eyes, her incredible eyes which must be brown but never let me be sure of their color, and some in the well defined lines which ran from the sides of her finely chisled nose to the corners of her mouth.

While she spoke she talked of the disciplines of the stage, the disciplines of dance and of her dancers and if there was any word which dominated her appearance and her presence it was discipline.

She was in control of her mind, her voice and her body and totally in control of those who questioned her. I sensed, as I think we all did, that she would tolerate the situation no other way.

She must have been very beautiful or at least quite striking when she was young, though I could not be sure.

Her long, oval face was exquisitely sculptured, a sad face somehow, perhaps because her age was leaking through her eyes, and her voice throaty and well modulated, the seductive voice of yesteryear.

While I watched I listened, some of the words seeping through my thoughts, others failing to penetrate, though I was impressed by what I heard.

Though she is one of the best known choreographers in the world today, she told us she had never heard the word until she arrived in New York when she was very young. She knew she danced and that people had to create dances but was not acquainted with the word which described that activity.

She learned also the oriental routines she had been using were not enough for her and it was then, during her search for a new way of expressing herself, her career as a choreographer began.

Exactly 50 years ago she made her choreographic debut in New York City with 18 pieces on the stage of the 48th Street Theatre .

Her Martha Graham Dancers evolved from that, were expanded in 1929 and incorporated males into their routine in 1938.

For all of us who have lived more years than we care to remember there is an increasingly sharp link with our youth. We remember long forgotten names, places and events which were once only clouds in our subconscious minds as we begin to slip away from middle age Martha Graham was no exception to the rule. She recalled clearly her early days as a terpsichorean and all the details of the years which followed.

It was hard for me to think of her as she had been and to equate the deliberate dignity of age which she had so clearly developed with her youthful appearance.

Yet the discipline had always been hers. She attended athletic events when she was young. Football and baseball games, track meets heavyweight fights and the zoo, searching for choreographic ideas. I wondered when she told us that if she had always associated athletes with the zoo.

Then I remembered dancers are athletes and while I was thinking about that she told us how a football coach in the south had asked her what her secret was, commenting he had never in his life seen such teamwork.

Then television moved in closer with the bright, cruel lights, merciless lights which attacked the veneer of makeup which had shrouded her age.

I left then, the patrician, unperturbed face in the bright lights clearly etched on my mind, wondering what I would see when I watched her dancers at the Curran Theatre tonight.

Hearst's crime

I, for one, would have voted "not guilty."

Patty Hearst never should have been indicted in the first place. She was taken out of normal, law - abiding circumstances and had a gun at her back the whole time she was with the SLA. If it had been me in her place, I would have done the same things she did. Survival is as important to me as it was to her.

I'm sure the jury members made up their minds honestly, according to their own lights. Hearst had a middle class, middle of the road jury. I think the jurors, like most Middle Americans, did not understand one fact of intellectual life, namely, that it is possible to hold radical opinions without doing, or wanting to do, anything violent.

I think Hearst's conversion to radical thought was a real one, though the method was faster and more intense than, say, the usual conversion of an American university intellectual to radicalism.

Despite this conversion, it is entirely believable that Hearst did not do anything violent of her own will. The gun was at her back and even if she escaped, she knew from reading newspapers that the SLA had sympathizers who could catch her out of revenge.

I think the people of the jury, raised in typical middle of the road American style, were Hearst's downfall. It was not a "jury of her peers," unlike the famous "guarantee" set forth in the Constitution. No, it was a collection of folks who think radical ways are dangerous and who don't know the difference between free belief and forced action.

Opening lead — Q ♠

By Oswald & James Jacoby

West's queen of spades is allowed to hold the first trick. He continues the suit and dummy is in with the king.

A low diamond is led and it is up to you to play from the East hand. What do you play?

If you have been reading this week's articles, you should have no problem. You play your ace of diamonds. Second hand high!

This play is not at all hard to make in a bridge column. It is much tougher at the table, yet any expert worth his salt would make it.

He can see that the only way to beat three notrump will be for his partner to score some spade tricks. He can also see that West can't hold much in high cards. But he can be looking at the king or queen of diamonds and it is up to East to let him keep that high diamond in his hand until the ace of spades is knocked out.

Ask the Jacobys

The same Iowa reader wants to know what we bid next after responding two clubs to partner's spade opening with:

♠ x x ♥ A K x x ♦ x x x ♣ A Q x x if he rebids two spades.

With one of our favorite partners we would raise to three spades. With others we would bid two notrump. Either call is generally satisfactory.

Household garbage an energy bonanza

By 1980, recycling of household garbage in California could generate enough electricity to power 8.3 million homes for a year — the energy equivalent of 28 million barrels of oil or 65 million cubic feet of natural gas.

That prediction came from one of the nation's top recycling consultants, Ronlad D. Kinsey, president of Resource Technology Corporation of San Jose.

Kinsey spoke yesterday at a recycling seminar in Sacramento sponsored by the American Iron and Steel Institute.

Kinsey said those figures were technologically possible, but he said garbage to energy systems will actually generate the equivalent of at least 25 per cent, or seven million barrels of oil, by 1980 if current state projections are met.

Conservative projections indicate that more than 170 trillion BTU's of energy a year will be available from household trash generated by Californian metropolitan areas by 1980.

That energy can be roughly valued at $1 per million BTU's.

Kinsey said that by 1980 our garbage will contain more than 1.5 million tons of steel alone. Recovery of resources from household refuse, especially reclaiming steel, is well on its way, Kinsey said.

Six California systems are currently in planning or under construction to recover energy from garbage.

Operating municipal magnetic systems in California are recovering more than 600 million steel cans annually at seven locations: San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Sacramento County, Los Gatos, Contra Costa County and Menlo Park.

Steel cans are being magnetically reclaimed today at the rate of four billion annually nationwide.

Kinsey noted that the interest in resource recovery systems has grown so rapidly in the past two years that more than 10 per cent of the 140 million tons of municipal refuse generated each year in the U.S. has already been reserved.

More than 50 municipalities and at least three states are planning or building facilities to convert garbage into fuel.

Bandettes conduct paper drive

LIVERMORE — The Bandettes (specialty squads) of Livermore High School are conducting a paper drive for two weeks, to raise money for uniforms and equipment.

Drop off your newspapers 3 - 5 p.m. weekdays, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays Monday, March 29, through Saturday, April 10.

The van can be reached through the gates at School Street (off Fourth Street, behind the high school.)

Call 447 - 7585 or 447 - 6383 to make arrangements to have papers picked up if you can't take them to the school.

The Bandettes are also selling Tupperware. To order or see a catalogue, call either of the above numbers or 443-2726.

Want a finer lawn? Then read this!

Warren' research facilities, established twenty years ago, have under observation over 1,000 strains and species of grasses. Some of these grasses have been patented and are available to the public in various parts of the United States and Europe.

About ten years ago one of these new grasses...

BenSun BRAND (A-34)

KENTUCKY BLUEGRASS

...was introduced into California. Its performance has proven to be outstanding for these reasons:

- Rated first in shade tolerance (up to 65%) yet grows vigorously in full sunlight.
- Rated first in wear tolerance by a university doing turfgrass research. (Of eighteen top bluegrasses tested, for golf course use, BenSun (A-34) was the only grass to receive an excellent rating.)
- Quick to recover when injured and is used extensively on athletic fields and golf courses.
- Does well in most soils, and is highly drought resistant.
- Thrives in hot or cold climates, at high or low altitudes.
- Requires less fertilizer to keep it healthy.
- Can be mowed down to ½ inch when planted in sunlight.
- One pound of seed will plant 2,000 sq. ft. of new lawn area at a cost of only ⅓¢ per square foot.
- BenSun (A-34) Lawngrass Seed carries this guarantee: "If you are not satisfied with the results obtained from this seed, return the empty box with proof of purchase within 6 months to Warren's Turf Nursery, Inc. You will be supplied with more seed or your money will be refunded, your choice".

Available as Sod, Sod Plugs and Seed!

To keep your lawn green and healthy use WARREN'S LAWN FOOD, specially formulated (10-8-4 analysis for proper balance) to give your lawn the proper food nutrients. Use the lawn food the grass professionals use.

Who killed Cock Robin?

Mike Zampa

Answer the following questions.

Who was Emma Matzo?

Who were the pitcher and catcher for Detroit the day midget Eddie Gaedel batted for Bill Veeck's St Louis Browns?

Who was the pinch runner after Gaedel drew a base on balls?

If you know the answers, pour yourself a drink. You're a trivia expert. If you don't know, don't despair. The answers to all questions are cleverly dispersed in the paragraphs below. I'll do anything to hold onto readers.

Trivia is no longer an infant in the world of fads. It has settled more bar tabs than dice, darts or any other test of inane skills. It has been featured in newspapers and magazines across the country. Matches have been aired on radio and television.

BEN FERNANDEZ

The sport of trivia is an eccentric bit of Americana fit to rest alongside The Big Mac and The Sons of the Pioneers.

Some say it is doomed to the scrapyard like those other flash in the pan sensations, hoola hoops and eskimo yo yo's.

But in the Bay Area at least, the game perseveres. Perhaps it is only because practitioners haven't found a better reason to gather with friends and raise a glass or two.

But regardless of motivation, trivia is still with us. And the greatest rivalry in the sport's arcane history is to be renewed at Sunol Golf Course.

Cheese Factory of Pleasanton, claimant to the world's championship, will meet King's X of Oakland, the other pretender to the crown, at 3 p.m. in a benefit match Sunday.

Proceeds will go to help the Norcal Aquatic Swim Club of Dublin.

Emma Matzo was the real name of screen star Elizabeth Scott.

It will be the fourth meeting of these trivia powers, and it won't be an affair to trifle with. King's X (the sponsor is an Oakland tavern, fittingly enough) has won two of three previous contests. It triumphed last month on KNBR radio. On the merit of those accomplishments, it claims to be trivia champ of the universe.

For reason's no one can figure, Cheese Factory of Pleasanton says it still owns the title.

"Since there's no trivia commissioner, you can say it's on appeal," says Cheese Factory team member Ben Fernandez. "And if we lose Sunday, it will still be on appeal, because we'll claim it was an unofficial match. Of course if we win, it is official, and we are the champions."

That's the way it goes with a game that has no traceable origin.

Trivia has been around ever since those great old movie stars and ball players performed the deeds that made legendary questions. It flourished in bars during an age when we thought body shop was a place for a dented fender.

One drunk would turn to another and ask; "Who is buried in Grant's Pass?"

"I don't know," his comrade would answer with a puzzled look. "But here's one for you. What did Batman's mother say when she first discovered her son in leotards?"

Of course the questions are more sophisticated in today's play. The players, however, are not.

Trivia experts are Renaissance men, a King's X player once insisted. "No," retorted Fernandez, ever anxious to fuel the rivalry. "They're a bunch of drunks."

And the two to four hundred fans who crowd buses to follow the Pleasanton team on tour? "They're drunks too," he says.

Charter members of Cheese Factory's team include Fernandez, Ed Canning, Jim Fales, Tim Murphy, Ron Harris and Lucille Bruskin.

Fales gets credit for assembling the team after he learned of a trivia tournament in San Francisco. One evening he heard Fernandez recite the names of "The Twelve Angry Men" and realized that the makings of a champion existed right in his home town.

The team was formed, won the tournament, and has billed itself world champion ever since. Well, Bay Area champ at least.

Bob Cain was the Detroit Tiger pitcher and Bob Swift was the catcher the day Eddie Gaedel played for the St. Louis Browns.

Since then interest seemed to wane for trivia. Cheese Factory and King's X maintained their bitter competition, but there have been no more major tournaments.

"But I don't think the interest has passed," says Fernandez "Given the place, and someone to put it together, it could happen again."

Trivia players, says Ben, are 25 per cent retention, and 75 per cent insanity. Whatever is left over is alchohol. There are two club rules for the Cheese Factory team — first — players must have a drink on hand at all times — second — they must observe rule one.

A reference book and a bottle of chablis are the only pre-game requirements for a successful player, it has often been stated.

The Cheese Factory team, says Fernandez, is a "symphony in balance." Its versatile players can go in all directions to sports, movies, radio or T V., books, history and a lot of other subjects the rest of us forgot graduation day.

A non-partisan, and hopefully sober moderator, rifles questiony to both teams in a match. The format is based loosley on that unforgettable television game show. "The G.E. College Bowl."

In their last match, King's X overhauled the Factory in overtime, 2-1. It'll be different this time, Fernandez promises, especially if his team can work out a trade rumored to be in the mill.

It'll cost $3 to watch, and it's a benefit. Who knows, somebody might by a round for the house.

Oh yes. That final question. Jim Delserig was the pinch runner for St. Louis Brown midget, Eddie Gaedel, the day he walked against the Detroit Tigers.

"That," says Fernandez; "Is the true test of a trivia question. When you can hear the answer and legitimately say 'who gives a bleep,' you've got a good one."

Wood makes NorCal team

Ted Wood of Livermore has been considered one of the best all- around prep basketball players in the East Bay the past two years. The 6-2 senior has added yet another honor with his selection to the Citizens Savings Athletic Foundation Northern California basketball team.

Wood was selected as a guard, the position he played at Livermore. He was the only EBAL player named to the 'dream team'.

Wood was named All-EBAL twice and was one of the top scorers in the East Bay this past year.

In all, 50 players were named to the team. Forty seven schools were represented with Castlemont, Del Mar of San Jose and Cupertino each getting two picks.

Francois Wise of San Francisco public school champion Balboa was selected NorCal Most Valuable Player. Wise led the Bucs to the city title and runner-up in the Tournament of Champions in Oakland.

He won the top award after stiff competition from Kurt Rambis of Cupertino, Walter Gillespie of Drake, Donnie Martin of Castlemont and Doug True of College Park.

Martin was one of the main reasons Castlemont won the Oakland Athletic League crown and captured the TOC title. He is extremely quick and has an excellent shooting touch. Rambis led Cupertino to the Central Coast Section championship with his inside shooting and rebounding. At 6-9 he also displayed an excellent outside shooting eye for a big man.

Gillespie led the Marin County Athletic League in scoring with a 24.5 average, breaking the league record in the process. True led College Park to the Diablo Valley Athletic League championship and third place in the North Coast Section playoffs. He averaged 23 points per contest and picked off 18 rebounds a game.

The North Coast Section led with 17 selections. Sac-Joaquin had 11 and Central Coast followed with seven picks. The Oakland Section had five players named to the squad. The Central Section had four and San Francisco and the Northern Section each had three picks. San Francisco and Oakland each have just one league.

This is the third year the Northern California team has been selected. Last year Bill Cartwright of Elk Grove won the Most Valuable Player award. In 1974 he shared it with Gene Ransom of Berkeley.

EBAL nines open race

Three contenders for the EBAL baseball pennant will crowd into Pleasanton this afternoon as the season gets underway after a long dry spell.

Pre-season favorite Granada travels to Amador Valley in a key opening day game, while Monte Vista plays at Foothill.

In other games, California is at Livermore, and Dublin meets San Ramon in Danville.

For most clubs this will be the first live action in more than a week. The EBAL is purposely opening late this year to prevent a big layoff for the champion just prior to postseason playoffs.

Instead, the layoff came after most teams played their three exhibition games.

One question today will be whether or not the down period has cooled off Granada's new-found offense. The once meek Matadors pounded the ball in three exhibition wins. Scott Trudeau wielded the biggest bat, blasting three home runs and a paie of triples.

The Matadors should have one of the league's top pitching staffs with veterans Steve Stone and Tim Duke, and junior Bob Parness. Stone will probably get the start today at Amador.

The Dons are another team with excellent pitching and good title prospects. Mike Garrigan and Rob Wicks are both veteran pitchers. They'll need batting support and better defense than they received in the pre-season, however, to win.

The other pennant challenger in town today is Monte Vista. The Mustangs carry an 0.70 team earned run average into the game with Foothill. Leading pitcher Greg Goodman is 2-0 with an 0.64 ERA and 20 strikeouts in 11 innings. He's followed by Darryl Jardine who has struck out eight in six innings, and posted a 1.17 ERA.

Shortstop Kevin Jones leads Monte Vista's offense with a .333 batting average.

Defending champion Livermore opens against California today with a lot of new faces in the lineup. The veterans are centerfielder Rich Palmer, shortstop Dan Wood and third baseman Ken Watts Wood and Watts are playing new positions, however.

They'll face a young Grizzlie team that features pitcher Chuck Cary, 1-0 this year with 13 strikeouts in eight innings. Brother Brett Cary is the top hitter with a .333 mark.

Dublin, with a solid infield combination of Sean Mays and Robin Sherwood at shortstop and second base, hopes to tighten up its defense beginning today at San Ramon. The Gaels have a trio of veteran pitchers, Sherwood, Alan Schaut and Jerry Puertas.

San Ramon may start Tom Milner, 1-0 on the mound this afternoon. He threw six innings of shutout baseball for the Wolves in exhibition games.

Veteran All-EBAL catcher Paul Miller returns as the team's best defense against the stolen base. Miller cut down more than 20 runners attempting to steal last season. He's off to a slow start at the plate this year, hitting just .222. Rick Hanson has seven runs batted in for San Ramon, and a .429 average.

Dons rout Mustangs

Monte Vista high school's track team played the perfect host to Amador Thursday, as the Dons trampled the Mustangs in varsity, frosh-soph and girls.

The Amador varsity won decisively, 88-48. The frosh-soph team were victors by the score of 96-40 and the Dons girls won easily, 71-28.

The only controversy of the day arose when Monte Vista's Bill Fowler lost in the 100-yard dash to Amador's Mike Mays. The race had already been the victim of one false start. Fowler said Mays got off to a false start the second time, but the judges didn't catch it. Mays' time was 10.2 to Fowler's 10.3.

Afterward, he said, "The race is over, it's all just history now."

In the 440 relay, the Mustangs pulled it out of the fire with Bill Fowler striding it out and taking the tape by 10 yards. His heroics were almost for naught, as the second leg runner of the Dons tripped on the back turn and almost fell.

After it was all over, Amador coach Rich Canfield had nothing but praise for his team.

"I was pretty pleased overall. I think we made an effective recovery from our loss Monday. We are still without a lot of strength, due to injuries.

I feel we have developed a much more positive mental attitude. We knew we could do it," said Canfield.

He was very impressed with Jim Beigle, who won the frosh-soph 330-yard low hurdles, with a time of 42.13 seconds.

"He's definitely there in the next two or three weeks," said Canfield.

Monte Vista coach Charles Spencer was very high on Casey Hensley, his varsity pole vaulter.

"Casey is coming in the pole vault. He almost hit 12-6 today," Spencer said.

Spencer also spoke very highly of his hurdlers, as well as those from Monte Vista.

"There's were excellent, but ours were right up there with them."

This win evened Amador's record at 1-1, while Monte Vista starts off the season with the loss in its first league meet

Livermore runs past Cal

Mike West won three events and finished second in a fourth yesterday afternoon as Livermore High School ran away and hid from visiting California, 123-13, in an EBAL dual track meet.

West participated in the meet-opening 440 relay, won by Livermore in 46.5, then won both the 330-yard low hurdles (41.2) and the 220-yard dash (24.). Mike missed out on a third individual win when he finished .1 seconds slower than team mate Steve Jens in the 100-yard dash.

Jens as the Cowboys other multiple winner, taking the 100 in 10.6 and running the anchor leg of the 440 relay.

Cal jumper Craig Cline was the Grizzlies' lone bright spot, winning both the long and triple jumps. He covered 19-7 in the long jump and returned for a 38-3 effort in the hop, step and jump.

Wille Huff, Cal's top sprinter, did not run. Huff, who has a wind-aided 9.9-100 to his credit this season, is serving as a counselor at an elementary school camp this week.

A quartet of 'Pokes placed in two events.

Weight man Mark Tewes finished behind teammate Wade Andrade in the shot put.

Gangnuss sets record, Gaels dump Foothill

Grab your stopwatches and phonetic spelling primers and consider Chuck Gangnuss — er, Gangus.

Ganguss?

Newspapers employed all three versions, and probably more, when Gangnuss (proper) played football and basketball this past season at Dublin High School.

Now that track season is here, however, they're getting it straight. That's because Gangnuss' exploits are taking up more space on the page than the sports logo.

Gangnuss (it sounds sort of like Ghengis Khan's first name) is already one of the East Bay's established hurdlers, though only a junior.

Yesterday he won three events he's never attempted before, setting a school record in one, as Dublin defeated Foothill in EBAL track, 93-34.

Now that they've solved the riddle of name, they're trying to figure out just where to employ Chuck the rest of the season.

He blistered to a 9.9 100-yard dash against the wind yesterday eclispsing Ken Rines' two-year-old Dublin record by a tenth of a second. Teammate Jon Batchelor equalled the old standard at 10.0.

It was the third school mark for Gangnuss this season, the others, a 14.8 in the high hurdles, and a 39.2 in the lows.

Chuck passed up both races yesterday ("I'm just taking it easy") and instead, posted victories in the long jump, 21-3, and the 220, 23.6.

"He could run the 100 for us in other dual meets," said coach Tom Cathcart, unaccustomed to so much versatility in one athlete; "but we're already deep there. Besides, it would be hard to run a good 100 because of the short time lapse after the low hurdles."

When the competition gets serious, Gangnuss will concentrate on the hurdles, where he rates among the East Bay leaders in both highs and lows. When the opportunity arises, however, he'll branch out. Chuck said yesterday that before the season ends he'd like to attempt the 440, and perhaps the mile relay.

Some observers feel he could be groomed for a career as a decathlon competitor.

Work continues on soccer fields

If there was ever proof that youth soccer is popular in the Livermore - Pleasanton area, all one has to do is look at the vast number of kids playing the sport in the fall.

With about 2,500 youngsters particpating in soccer in the city of Livermore alone, there are just not enough facilities to fill the needs of the teams.

Thus, the Livermore Soccer Club is aiding the Livermore Area Recreation Parks District in building three soccer fields at the new Independence Park on the city's south side.

The playing area will be named Kellman Fields and recreation officials are hopeful they will be ready for the fall season.

"We just don't have enough facilities to handle all the teams," admitted LARPD director Bill Payne. "Youth soccer is really growing fast here."

The soccer club has donated about $17,000 to the LARPD for construction of the fields. The total cost of the fields is expected to be around $45,000. The remaining cost of the fields is expected to come from the LARPD budget.

Wolves down Matadors

Mike Bowles won four events for San Ramon's track team yesterday afternoon in leading the Wolves to an impressive 75-61 verdict over Granada in the EBAL opener for both teams.

Bowles ran the 100 in 10.3 and took the 220 in 24.1, as the Wolves used balanced scoring in every event. Bowles' other victories occured in the weights. He took the shot put with a strong throw of 48-4, while winning the Discus with a heave of 156-1.

Granada coach John Sai, commenting on the Wolves' overall strenght, noted factors other than Bowles that spelled doom for his Matadors.

"They brought this Wilson kid up from frosh-soph in the 220," Sai explained. The "Wilson kid", Brad Wilson, finished behind Bowles in both the 100 and 220 in bringing home important points for San Ramon.

Granada was also hurt in the triple jump and high jump, where superb performances from San Ramon caught the Mats off guard. Phil Wiltz won the triple jump with a leap of 41-5, while Granada's Scott Campbell was second with 40-9.

"In the triple jump, Campbell just couldn't put it together," Sai commented after the meet. Sai was also surprised with San Ramon's Randy Harrington in the high jump. Harrington's leap of 6-2 ousted John Walden of Granada, who went 6-0.

Pat McChristy for the Wolves was the top pole vaulter, going 11-0 to beat out the Mats' Steve Sullivan. Granada also placed no better than third in the long jump, where Steve Jeager's leap of 17-5 finished behind Dan Chavez and Wiltz, who won with a jump of 18-1.

Scott Kusko kept the Mats within striking distance most of the meet with easy victories in the mile and two-mile. Kusko was a five-second winner in the mile (4:36.5), and a 12-second victor in the two-mile (10: 05.2).

Both of Granada's relay teams emerged victorious. The 440 team of Rick Bosch, Drew Watson, Walden and Joel Strickland barely nosed out San Ramon. Their time of 46.4 was one-tenth of a second better than the Woves. The mile relay team of Antal, Strickland, Campbell and Watson finished with a strong 3:38.8.

Campbell, although finishing second in the triple jump, turned in two outstanding times in the hurdles. He ran the 330 low hurdles in a fast 40.2, while taking the 120 high hurdles in a blazing 15.1, his best time of the season.

Paul Swenson was a double-winner for the Wolves, winning the 440 in 52.7 and copping the 880 with a time of 2:02.8.

Granada's girls team continued their winning ways, romping to an easy 79-21 victory. Kathy Honour used her extreme versatility to take four first place finishes.

Honour won the long jump with a 15-5 leap and won the 80 low hurdles in 12.6. She also was on both winning relay teams, the 440 winning in 51.9 and the mile in 4:29.4

Granada's frosh-soph team handily defeated the Wolves, 101-35.

Although the Wolves had five first place finishes, Granada loaded up the second and third places, while taking 11 firsts, in rolling to the easy victory.

Tim Hicks' 880 time of 2:10.4 marked the best frosh-soph EBAL time in that event this season.

Kuhn leads Don rout

Jayne Kuhns belted two home runs and had six RBI's to lead the Amador High School girls' softball team to an easy 10-3 victory over visiting Pacific of San Leandro yesterday in a non-league contest.

Kuhns, a freshman, plays shortstop for the Dons.

Lewis leads Cowboy win

Mike Lewis fired a 36 to spark an awesome Livermore attack as the Pokes rolled over Granada, 191-209 yesterday in a EBAL golf match at Las Positas.

In other EBAL matches Amador edged Monte Vista, 195-201 and Dublin beat Foothill, 208-216.

The Pokes also got excellent efforts from Keith Voelker (37) and Neal Zurakowski (39). Dan Juchau and Rick Gieler paced the Falcons with 42s.

Tom Strater fired a brillant 34 but his Monte Vista team fell to Amador. Scott Peters had a 36 to spark the Dons. Greg Mona added a 37 and Jack Stevenson a 38 for Amador. The Dons are now 2-0 in EBAL action.

Turtle Greast wins thriller

Two Bill Benapfl free throws and a Steve Cochran field goal in overtime lifted Turtle Greast to a 47-46 win over the Postal Eagles in Livermore Recreation Basketball.

Benapfl was the leading scorer for Turtle Grease with 16 points, and teammate Nick Advincula followed with 12.

The Eagles' Mike Dailey had 15 points, and Russ Haley contributed 13.

Pizza Arcade placed four players in double figures and thumped Potter's Pizza, 60-41. Ted Andersen had 19 points, Ben Murray, 11, and Rich Rochin and Ron Sigg each scored 10.

The Celtics survived a 29-point performance by New York Life's Lee Dewey to win, 73-58. Pete Tolman scored 25 points for the winners, and Randy Alviso added 21. New York's Mike Willis had 17 points.

Balanced scoring by Kavanagh Liquors thipped LLL, 57-40. Larry Myre led the attack with 16 points. Mike McIntyre had 13.

CAMPAIGN 76

Alves endorsed

Alameda County Supervisor Charlie Santana yesterday announced his support for his former administrative assistant, Rob Alves, for First District supervisor.

Santana is supervisor from the second district. In supporting Alves, Santana declined to endorse colleague John Murphy, incumbent supervisor running for re - election.

In a press release issued yesterday Santana said he knew of no one "better qualified to be a supervisor." Santana termed Alves "honest, intelligent and dedicated to serving the public."

"He is experienced in government and knows how to get things done," Santana said.

Alves has been administrative assistant to Santana since 1975. He resigned this month to devote full time to campaigning for the first district post.

"I have relied on his knowledge and advice and am in a good position to vouch for his ability, awareness and ethics," Santana said.

Santana said Alves "learned his lessons well" as administrative assistant to the late Assemblyman Carlos Bee. Alves served in that position from 1971 to 1975.

Thirty - year - old Alves is a former newspaperman. He is a resident of Fremont and a member of the California State Democratic Central Committee, an appointed position.

In addition to Alves and Murphy, Irene Vincent and Sally Saint of Fremont and Valerie Raymond of Livermore are in the race.

Murphy has been first district supervisor for 16 years.

The primary election is June 8. If one candidate does not receive a majority, a run - off will be held Nov. 2.

Alves has said he is fighting for a run - off spot. "If I can get on the November ballot, I know I'll win," Alves said.

Miller blasts zone

LIVERMORE — The majority of the Zone 7 board has arrogantly set itself against the wishes of valley agencies by reserving the right to sewer development in the unincorporated areas of the district, Don Miller charged yesterday.

Miller is one of eight candidates for three seats on the board of directors of Zone 7, Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District.

Miller referred to recent action by the zone board to alter a memorandum of understanding with the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency, a joint powers agency composed of Livermore, Pleasanton and Valley Community Services District.

The zone approved a version of the memo reserving the right to sewer new development in the unincorporated areas of the county, district, including areas adjacent to member agencies of LAVWA.

The LAVWA agencies have contended that they have an interest in the development of areas adjacent to but not located within their jurisdictions.

In a press release issued yesterday, Miller said by that action "the majority of the Zone 7 board decided to become a sewer agency."

He said that step was "contrary to the express wishes of Livermore, Pleasanton and Dublin officials."

"It is the latest in a long series of failures of the present Zone 7 board to cooperate with other valley agencies," he said.

Former Livermore Councilman Miller said "Geldertown" was the sole motivation for the zone's action. He referred to New Town, a proposed 45,000 - person community to be built north of the Livermore City limits by realtor Harlan Geldermann.

Miller has consistently opposed the development as potentially dangerous to the air quality of the valley.

"The Geldertown development would be a disaster for present valley residents," Miller said. "It would use up the better water destined for Dublin and Pleasanton, crowd Livermore schools, raise taxes, and increase smog."

These communities, Miller said, are on record in opposition to New Town.

"The arrogance of the Zone 7 majority in setting itself against other valley agencies is unacceptable," Miller said.

Miller said if elected to the zone board he would provide "responsible new direction" and would vote to "take Zone 7 out of the sewer business."

Mori's tax bill

Assemblyman Floyd Mori's bill to redistribute sales tax revenue from regional sales centers has received a number, he told The Times.

THe new bill will be titled AB 3598. It was drafted by the Franchise Tax Board and has language in it which Mori does not want in the bill.

He accepted the bill's language to meet the March 15 deadline for putting bills in the hopper, but he will be amending out the objectionable language over the next few weeks.

Mori said he has received many encouraging letters from valley residents after he announced his intentions to introduce the bill.

The bill would redistribute sales tax revenues on a per capita basis. Half of a city's share of sales tax dollars would remain in the point - of - origin city, the other half given to neighboring cities on a population basis.

There have been a few objections to the bill by Hayward city officials, said Mori. Hayward is the commercial hub of southern Alameda County and would stand to lose some of its sales tax revenue to other cities in the county.

Although big cities point to financial costs of regional centers, for example, more police and fire protection, Mori thinks his bill's provision allowing the regional center cities to keep half the sales tax revenues will cover it adequately.

"I want to discourage this high competition for regional centers because of the sales taxes it brings," said Mori. "Sales tax should not be the basis for commerce. The basis should be a need for commercial services and it should fit with rational planning. Sales tax has been at the crux of irrational planning."

Fund fight could hurt says BART

Lesher News Bureau

OAKLAND — Public fighting over money for transit may have a negative effect, a Bay Area Rapid Transit director contends.

Richard Clark of Oakland contended that public fighting by BART and the Metropolitan Transportation Commission could put the damper on bills for extension of the half-cent sales tax which both agencies have submitted to the state Legislature.

Clark said Thursday that the Bay Area's major transit agencies — BART, AC Transit and San Francisco Municipal Railway — should meet to figure out how much money they will need to stay solvent, rather than rely on the two separate bills.

BART's bill, introduced by Assemblyman John Knox, D-Richmond, would make the half cent sales tax permanent with all proceeds going to BART.

The MTC bill would make the tax permanent, but give all the money to BART only through 1979. Then, 35 per cent of the money would be split among AC Transit, the Muni and other transit operations.

BART and the MTC "ought not to be publicly feuding over limited dollars," Clark told fellow BART directors.

He also declared that if more money is needed for transit than provided for in the current proposals, transit agencies should band together and seek that amount from the Legislature.

That, he admitted, might mean a 1 cent extra sales tax, rather than the current half-cent tax charged in Contra Costa, Alameda and San Francisco counties.

"A compromise bill should give adequate monies forever and ever," Clark continued.

Money could be provided through use of bridge tolls or in-lieu vehicle registration fees for mass transit.

Clark declared that the MTC is needed, but questioned its "tippy-toeing" into the transit operations business.

Valley seniors win awards

LIVERMORE — Three local high school seniors have scooped up $1,000 in awards this week.

They are Glenn Kishi, winner of the California Scholarship Federation's highest honor; Kevin Smith and Joanne Kienzle, zone winners in the Bank of America competition.

Glenn, a student at Livermore High, won the $500 Seymour Memorial Award, the top honor given by the state honor society, CSF. He was chosen over top students from more than 200 high schools in the Bay and coastal areas of northern California.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Tadashi Kishi, Glenn spent an all - day Saturday session with judges before emerging a winner.
It was the first time in recent memory a Livermore student was chosen for the honor.

Meanwhile, Granada High produced two top winners in B of A's annual contest.

Health group objects to plans

Lesher News Bureau

MARTINEZ — The Contra Costa Mental Health Association doesn't like the way the county's voluminous mental health plan was put together.

Gaylord H. Fox, president of the association, has written a protest to the Board of Supervisors. He says the priorities "established were presented mainly by the staff of the community health services and not by the citizens attending task force meetings."

The Mental Health Advisory Board, which approved the plan and then submitted it to the supervisors, has asked to meet with Fox. The supervisors approved the plan two weeks ago.

Pat Felice, executive assistant to the mental health board, says a letter to Fox was to have been mailed Thursday.

Fox has asked the supervisors to set up a committee of community mental health services personnel, representatives of the Mental Health Advisory Board, the Board of Supervisors and the public.

This committee would be convened, Fox said, to discuss a planning process that would include the public and consumers and establish a list of high priority programs for the state monies available for prevention and treatment of mental illnesses in the county.

Rev. Palmer Watson, chairman of the Mental Health Advisory Board, told the Board of Supervisors, when he presented the plan, that priorities were not included.

He explained that the state had not told the county how much money would be available.

He promised that when the state indicated allocations, the advisory board would be back with a budget and priorities for the plan.

Fox claimed that the plan "fails to reflect much of the community input presented at several of the task force meetings."

Ms. Felice said that the plan, mandated by the state, was put together by a process "mutually agreed" upon by citizen members of the Mental Health Advisory Board, the Drug Abuse Board, the Development Disabilities Council and the Alcohol Advisory Board.

Letters were sent to 1,500 individuals and organizations when the task forces were being developed in November, 1974. Eight task forces were eventually created with 300 members.

Ms. Felice said the Mental Health Association was at the top of the list.

"We repeatedly asked them to join us," she said. "In fact the chairman of one of the key task force is June Skarr who is also on the board of the Mental Health Association."

Barbed wire fence advocates defend Post Office barrier

PLEASANTON — The pro-barbed wire faction in the controversy over the post office fence has made its feelings known to Planning Commission Chairman Walt Wood.

Wood told The Times that since stories have appeared quoting his distaste for the three strands of barbed wire topping the eight-foot chain link fence at the post office, two citizens called him saying that the barbed wire is a good idea.

Vandals, especially young ones who don't have professional tools and who are not bent on professional larceny, will be deterred from climbing that fence thanks to those sharp shards of steel, said the callers.

Wood, and Mayor Robert Philcox who also opposes the barbed wire, disagree with the need for barbed wire for security.

"There must be a more sophisticated way to secure the yard than a high fence and barbed wire," said Philcox.

Wood thought that perhaps amfence with a built-in sound system would do the trick of detecting potential malefactors.

Other planning commissioners dislike the fence, too. Bob Butler doesn't mind the eight foot height, but he does object to the barbed wire.

"Normally an applicant has to request a variance for an eight foot fence. I'm on the board of adjustment and I would consider a post office request for a variance on the height but not for the barbed wire "

"I think we have a tough chance of changing the fence now. In any case, it's worth a try," said Butler.

Commissioner David Shepherd said, "A barbed wire topped fence that close to downtown Pleasanton is completely out of character with the community. If someone wanted to get into the yard badly enough, it won't stop them.

"I don't think there is anything we can do except apply moral pressure to the post office. I'd be curious to know just how much threat there is to the building. There are vehicles parked all over town that can be vandalized.

"There are 10 or 15 vehicles parked behind the Livermore post office. I don't recall seeing any barbed wire behind that one," said Shepherd.

Welfare applications

Almost 20 per cent more people applied for food stamps in January than in December in Alameda County.

There were also 10 per cent more applications for welfare. But, despite seasonal hard times, the welfare department says the number of people seeking assistance is not out of line with expectations. Besides, the social services agency denied some 90 per cent of the new welfare applications.

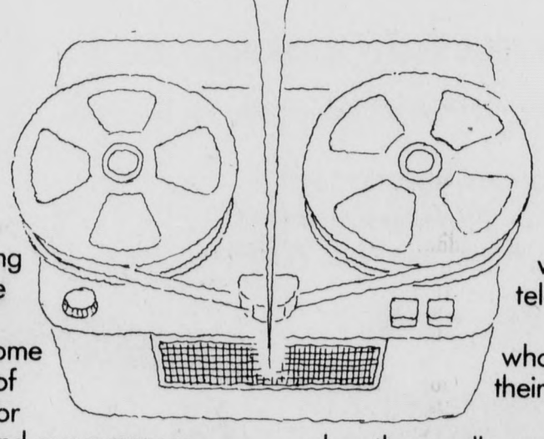
If you call 411 a lot we'd like a few words with you.

"If you've checked your directory and are unable to find the number you wish, please stay on the line and a Directory Assistance Operator will answer. Thank You."



Before long you'll be hearing that recording every time you call 411. It'll come on just before the Operator.

We're putting it on because, even though some people have cut down on their calls to 411, a lot of people still haven't. Many of them are still calling for numbers that are listed in their telephone books, and our expenses are higher than ever.

The problem is that a few people–about 12%–make more than half of all these unnecessary calls. About 2 out of 3 of our customers call without looking in the book first. And you know that everybody winds up paying for all those unnecessary telephone calls.

So the recording is there to remind people who call for a number that may already be listed in their books to try looking it up for themselves first.

To the rest of our customers, who call 411 only when they really can't find a number, we apologize for the delay.

And we want to remind you that, when you really have to call us–for example, if you're handicapped, need numbers from out of this area, a new listing, or when you've looked and just can't find it–we're still here to help.
